

Fundraising at work

Fundraising at work is fun – and a great way to bring the team together. Here are just a few ideas to get you started.

Sponsored Events

Enter a team in a running or cycling event, or one of our overseas or UK challenges. Visit our website for a list of recommended sponsored events.

Lunchtime Club

Hold a club over lunch break and ask for a donation to Children Children Colombia. You could give Spanish or salsa lessons, give a head massage or even teach computer skills.

Christmas Cards

If your company is considering purchasing cards this Festive Season, why don't you suggest Children Change Colombia as the beneficiary charity? We can help the company set up an electronic Christmas message in exchange for a donation towards our work, or, if they prefer a more traditional approach, they could sell our hand-drawn note cards (perfect for a little 'thank you').

Birthday celebrations

Why not bake a cake and make it an opportunity to impress others with your culinary talents? Ask your colleagues make a small donation to Children Change Colombia for their piece of cake. Contact us in advance so we can send you materials about our work.

Sports tournament / Mini World Cup

Organise a mini world cup to coincide with the next big championship. You could do it primary school style, with egg-and-spoon and three-legged races, obstacle courses, the 'Mums and Dads race' (but replaced with directors and team leaders!).

TIPS

Companies are often very supportive of employees who are raising money. Many will even match the money you raise pound for pound – find out what your company policy is on this as it could double the amount of money you raise in one go!

Always take photos of any events you have at work. Your company may wish to use them in its own publications and we may include them in our newsletters.
